Death of Well Known Lawyer

Ex-Judge Charles T. Reifsnider died last week in his 63rd year at Westminster, Md. He was well known to many of our people, both as an able lawyer and also during his career as Judge, when he filled the position to high credit to himself during a period of two years From 1855 to 1857 he attended Pennsylvania College and during the war was a lieutenant in Seventh Regt Maryland Vol. Inf, in the Union Army. For four years he was State's Attorney of Carroll County. He distinguished himself at the Westminister Bar and acquired a large practice. In 1899 he was appointed to a Judgeship but was defeated for the position at election in 1903.

The Greenroom.

The term greenroom, which is as old as the days of the Elizabethan drama was derived originally from the green rushes strewed upon the floor of the retiring rooms of the actors and actresses in place of a carpet in the early theaters Afterward paper of a green color was used on the walls and green baize took the place of the rushes so that the name came to be retained to the present day

BLANKETS AND COMFORTS

We long ago knew that Cotton and Wool Blankets would be much higher in price for this winter than for a long time past, owing to the much higher price of the raw stock, and also a steady increase in wages in the manufacturing section, which must of necessity raise them. In giving the buying of them attention, last spring, we found a mill agent willing to sell stock on hand, at the basis of old price on cotton and wool. We bought very largely of them, and are enabled to give better values than other stores that were not so fortunate. Judge the stock by these two: Grey White, 56x74 inches, Cotton Fleece Blanket 50c. Grey White Scarlet 82x81 inches, Fine All Wool $5. These Blankets weigh 5½ pounds and their value is full $6 00. Every kind and size under price

CARPETS AND RUGS

The scarcity of Carpets, owing to the strikes, has added quite a great deal to the cost of them, that is not apparent in this great stock of ours, except in one or two instances. We have added, this season, carpet sizes in Axminster and Smyrna Rugs. We are showing a nice assortment of sizes and patterns at prices less than city stores. All sizes and kinds of Rugs.

LACE CURTAINS AND PORTIERS

We are showing an exceptional stock in these lines, at much less price than stock bought now. Lace Curtain price starts at 35c per pair up to $7 50. MEDAL OF HONOR MEN HONOR MILES GETTYSBURG SHOULD PREPARE FOR A GREAT MEMORIAL DAY NEXT YEAR.

Legion Must Soon Face Question Whether to Advocate a Pension to Accompany Medal

The visit of the Medal of Honor Legion last week calls for more notice than could be given in last issue. The party numbered over one hundred, one-third ladies. They were here Tuesday and Wednesday. Some came Monday evening and by Wednesday afternoon all had gone, many to Washington to be present at the dedication of the Sherman statue which the Legion voted to attend in a body and which took place last Thursday. Tuesday night there was a delightful banquet at the Eagle Hotel at which there were covers for one hundred and fifty guests, and after the feasting came a camp fire with speeches by Generals Sickles, Howard and others. Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday were spent on the field.

Of those wearing the medal who were here about thirty-five were enlisted men and twenty-five officers. It was charged at their meeting that the former wanted the honors and quite a little friction was caused when General Horatio King, in a rather warm speech, said that it seemed to be a disgrace with some soldiers to be an officer, and that the man who had ambition to excel and become an officer deserved credit. The speech did not seem to help the situation

The first tilt came when General J. Madison Drake, of New Jersey, presented the following resolution

Resolved, That we winners of Medal of Honor in annual reunion at Gettysburg desire to place ourselves on record as being proud of the brilliant military career of Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, Past Commander of the Medal of Honor Legion, who gallantly earned his way from a lieutenancy in a volunteer regiment at the commencement of the war for the Union to the command of the United States Army. We have intense pleasure in congratulating our distinguished companion upon his honorable retirement from active duty, after faithfully and efficiently serving our country for more than forty-two years. His matchless record from Bull Run to Appomattox and his magnificent achievements through a long series of years as an Indian fighter and conqueror, justly entitles him to the gratitude and sincerest thanks of every patriotic American.

The resolution was no sooner read than a few voices protested. Among others, John C Delaney, of Harrisburg, who said aloud, "This is politics. This is no place for politics." The fact was that the one who wrote it as well as many who supported it were Republicans and simply wanted to honor a commander they had loved and who they believed had not been treated right by the War Dept. Finally a member moved to table the resolution. Another made the point that such a resolution was out of order and General Sickles, Commander, declared he could not rule it out of order when there was a motion to table it but he would do so if the motion did not prevail. It did not prevail and the resolution was declared out of order. But the soldier who had fought side by side with General Miles was aroused and did not propose to permit their honored commander to be so treated. John Brosner, of the 164th N Y. Vols, who won his medal at Fair Oaks, June 7, 1864, by rescuing a comrade mortally wounded and exposed to the enemy's fire, sprang forward with an appeal from the decision of the chair. He was backed up. Things were warm for awhile. When the appeal was put not over ten stood up to abide by decision of chair and over thirty voted to reverse the ruling. Then the original resolution of General Drake for that grand soldier, General Nelson A. Miles, went through with but one dissenting voice.

General Horatio King, in reading letters of regret, stated that he had received a personal letter from President Roosevelt which he did not have with him, stating that he was unable for several reasons to be present and among others President Roosevelt said he expected to be in Gettysburg on Memorial Day next year, not as a guest alone, but to deliver the Memorial Oration on that occasion. So Gettysburg can prepare herself for a big day next year. How would it be to invite Eugene Ware, the Kansas poet and Pension Commissioner, to write and read a poem for the occasion. If preparations are begun in time it ought to be a day to be remembered.

General Mulholland called the attention of the Legion to an interesting case He stated that he had recently discovered an order signed by Generals Grant and Hancock recommending that the services of a particular soldier be specially recognized in some way. The recommendation had never been carried out. He asked the Secretary of War to award the Medal of Honor to the soldier now For a reply he had been told that all recommendations for medals must have been made during the war and as Generals Grant and Hancock had not at that time specified that a medal should be granted none could be given now. A motion prevailed that the Commander of the Legion communicate with the President for the purpose of bringing about a different ruling so that such cases of merit might be recognized.

General Sickles, in making his report as Commander, in addition to what was stated last week, said that there was a comrade present from Montana, he having come the furtherest to attend the meeting and declared that this battlefield was visited by more people than go to all other battlefields in the world.

A matter calculated to make trouble was the disposition of a set of resolutions prepared by Capt. Edmund English, of the 21 New Jersey Vols. in the battle of Gettysburg. The resolution proposed to ask Congress to grant a pension of $75 a month to all men of the Medal of Honor Legion over sixty years of age who shall apply for the same. At the meeting last year in Philadelphia the resolution was tabled. Capt. English sent out a circular and had over two hundred favorable responses from members of the Legion and but ten objections stated to be of "a sentimental character." The resolution reached the secretary's table but was not read and

FICTION READING TO BE ANALYZED

SUBJECT AS DISCUSSED BY STATE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.

The Story of How Sarah Junkins of County Home Became a Patron of the Free Library of Philadelphia.

At a meeting of the Keystone State Library Association in this place last week, a very interesting question was considered. The Association at its meeting the year before in Williamsport had appointed a committee to take up the subject of the differentiation of fiction. The chairman of this committee was John Thomson, librarian of Free Library of Philadelphia. The purpose of the work of the committee was to afford a better criterion of the value of the reading done by a large number of the patrons of free libraries. Fiction is taken in large doses by these patrons, often outnumbering all other books read and practically everything has gone under that head except such works as could be included under title "Classics." The labor of this committee was to classify and divide fiction or in other words differentiate it so that there would be a way of finding out exactly what the public taste for fiction is.

It was supposed the work of this committee might be accomplished in four or five months. It involved the special examination or reading of six thousand books and the index compiled took nine months to prepare, and made a thick pamphlet. The work would seem to be but fairly started as the committee recommended to the association at their meeting here that a permanent committee of five instead of three be appointed to continue the work in co-operation with other libraries and that the result will be an enlarged index next year. It is also desired that all libraries throughout the country take up the scheme and put it into use so that its comparative advantages may be studied.

O. H. Howard Thomson, son of John Thomson, read an intensely interesting paper on the subject at one of the meetings here, explaining in detail the differentiation scheme. It is wrong to call all ficticious works fiction for necessarily Pilgrim's Progress, Robinson Crusoe and many others would come under that name. The statistics of free libraries show the reading public to be swallowing enormous quantities of fiction. What are the varieties would be a point of view, the knowledge of which must be of much ultimate good. If much is blood and thunder then it is a subject matter to be studied and understood. To arrive at the true facts the fiction as read must be classified into many varieties There is the historical novel, the descriptive novel, the religious novel, the philosophical novel, the sociological novel, the political novel and many other varieties, each with their own point of view, which may be more important and leave more of an impression toward the historical, or descriptive, and so forth, than as fiction. With fiction so classified the value of what is read can be better understood than under the single classification as fiction. Knowing better the demand the libraries may be better able to meet it.

That this work should originate with the librarian of the Free Library of Philadelphia and his son is most fitting as more books are circulated by that library than any library in the world. Then Pennsylvania claims as her very own the only great library creator, Andrew Carnegie, who has established one of the most successful institutions of the kind in Pittsburg and in many other towns in the State. Pennsylvania has also a particularly fine State Library at Harrisburg, so everything pertaining to libraries has a special significance to Pennsylvania and her citizens.

The visit of the State Library Association to Gettysburg was marked by an interesting personal incident. With Mr. Thomson was Miss Reiser, an assistant librarian of the Free Library. Miss Reiser called while here upon one of the special patrons of their library, Miss Sara Junkins, at the County Home, and was disappointed in not finding her and Miss Sarah was exceedingly disappointed in missing this call, an incident in a very interesting life story.

Sara Junkins was born in 1835 at York Springs. She has been blind since birth. For many years she has lived at the County Home and there is no one more expert than she in the care of herself and her room She had, however, no acquaintance with books or book learning until she was over fifty years of age. Think of it, at a time when the majority of mortals have passed to the beyond, she was taking her first lessons in reading print. She was in fact fifty-five years old when several ladies of the town, as part of the work of the Y. W. C. T. U. undertook to teach Sarah Junkins to read the books made for the blind with raised letters.

A Mr. Dunlap, now dead, at the same place, lost his sight and was taught how to read the raised letters through the Bible Society of Pennsylvania and Dr. Morrow, secretary of that society was furnishing all the books of the raised letters for him. When Sarah Junkins heard about this she wanted to learn to read these books for the blind and with the help given went to work to learn to do it. It took some months to teach her the letters and to read and it took much

THOUGHTS AND THINGS.

THE PASSING YEARS.

They are slipping away, these swift sweet years
Like a leaf on the current cast,
With never a break in the rapid flow,
We watch them as one by one they go
Into the beautiful past.

As light as the breath of the thistle—down
As fond as a lover's dream,
As pure as the flush in the sea shell's throat,
As sweet as the wood bird's wooing note,
So tender and sweet they seem

One after another we see them pass
Down the dim lighted stair,
We hear the sound of their steady tread
In the steps of the centuries long since dead,
As beautiful and as fair.

The association of ideas is one of those curious phenomena which is accepted though often apparently inexplicable. Going through the country, up one road, down another, across a third, taking a circuit course about the town, the guide posts and index boards at all cross roads pass by, or are passed by, little difference as they seem to go by, while the words of the above poem ring in the ear, "One after another we see them pass." Are they mile posts, or sign posts, or passing points of view or years? At first you don't care which. Finally they lose every characteristic of a symbol and one after another they are studied for what they are

What a poor lot of sign posts they are There are none with the freshness of youth glowing on their faces. They are all old and decrepit, the posts are on a lean, the boards hang on any way. They are weather beaten, There is something tragic about their gaunt forms and the intelligence they meant to convey is so nearly obliterated that one wonders whether the poor old things are not wandering in their heads. Several were seen with everything gone but the faint trace of letters and if we had not known where we were we would have been like the Southern statesman and would had to ask at the nearest farm house "Where am I at?" A vast majority of the index boards are candidates for the index board graveyard, wherever that may be, perhaps the kindling pile of the supervisor

This is not as it should be. An aged half obliterated index board is only within the letter of the law. To be within both the letter and the spirit of the law the post wants to be up straight, saying to every traveler I know what I am here for and I can send you straight on your journey. Attached to such a post there should be a board or boards large enough to contain letters that can be seen across a road. Better yet the board could be painted white and have the lettering strongly inserted in black At some rare point such an index board is seen and it makes one feel that the Supervisor who put it up was thinking of others, the benefit it would be to others, and not as so many others express, slapped together in the easiest way possible so as to comply with the law

The law on the subject is so plain that it can not be misunderstood. Supervisors shall cause posts to be erected at the intersection of all public roads within their respective townships, where trees are not convenient, with boards firmly fixed thereon and index hands pointing to the direction of such roads, on which boards shall be inscribed in large and legible characters the name of the town, village or place to which such roads may lead and distance thereto computed in miles. There is a penalty punishing a supervisor in neglecting or refusing to put up or keep in complete repair index boards. and also for punishing any person wilfully destroying, defacing or injuring any guide post or index board

As a very seasonable suggestion it is submitted that every Supervisor in the county should make this fall, a complete tour of his district. He should note the intersection of every road. If without index board or if its condition is such that it is not in complete repair, the matter should be noted and a list made of the index boards needed. Then when winter comes and there is no work to be done on the roads, the Supervisor could busy himself with the making of index boards, painting them, lettering them distinctly. As soon as possible in the early spring the posts and boards could be erected and thus start in a next year with such a compliance of the law both in letter and spirit that every one who moves up and down the public roads of Adams county will behold and say Surely this is a community up to date giving its people the full benefits of the law as to index boards.

Then you know anything well done, even an index board, is an example to well doing to every one beholding it.

Alarm of Fire.

An alarm of fire on Wednesday of last week brought out the fire laddies between nine and ten o'clock in the morning. Engine, reels, and hook and ladder were hurried toward Washington Street in answer to call but their services were not needed. The fire was discovered in house owned by Rev. W. O Lyles on alley running from High Street in the rear of Washington Street and occupied by Bruce Tonell employed at Holtzworth Bros. livery. An over heated stove and pipe had set fire to a back building but the fire was put out before much damage was done, outbuilding being blackened.

Dyspepsia

What's the use of a good cook if there's a bad stomach —a stomach too weak properly to digest what is taken into it?

The owner of such a stomach experiences distress after eating, nausea between meals, and is troubled with belching and fits of nervous headache—he's dyspeptic and miserable.

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia and have suffered almost everything. I have tried many different remedies, but could get no relief until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. After the use of this medicine I could eat without distress, and today I am as well as ever, but I always keep Hood's Sarsaparilla on hand." MRS. J. A. CROWELL, Canajoharie, N. Y.

Letter to Chas H. Comfort.

Gettysburg Pa.

Dear. Sir: Mr.———— President of a cotton-mill at Union, S. C.—he don't want to see his name in print—had two offers of 500 gallons of paint: $1.30 and $1.25. Took the $1.25; and got skinned. He'd have got three-quarters skinned if he'd taken the other.

The $1.30 was full gallon; the $1.25 was 15 per cent. short. The full-measure paint was adulterated 40 per cent.; the short-measure paint was adulterated 45 per cent. besides benzine in the oil, dont know how much.

Devoe lead-and-zinc wasn't sold in the town then.

It don't pay to monkey with paint.

Devoe costs less than any of 'em; not by the gallon, of course; by the house and year. That's how to reckon it. Go by the name.

Yours truly
F. W. DEVOE & Co

MILLIONAIR'S POOR STOMACH —The worn-out stomach of the over-fed millionare is often paraded in the public prints as a horrible example of the evils attendant on the possession of great wealth. But millionaires are not the only ones who are afflicted with bad stomachs. The proportion is far greater among the toilers. Dyspepsia and indigestion are rampant among these people, and they suffer far worse tortures than the millionaire unless they avail themselves of a standard medicine like Green's August Flower, which has been a favorite household remedy for all stomach troubles for over thirty-five years. August Flower rouses the torpid liver, thus creating appetite and insuring perfect digestion. It tones and vitalizes the entire system and makes life worth living, no matter what your station. CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.—No one who is acquainted with its good qualities can be surprised at the great popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only cures colds and grip effectually and permanently, but prevents these diseases from resulting in pneumonia It is also a certain cure for croup. Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult It is also pleasant to take. When all of these facts are taken into consideration it is not surprising that people in foreign lands, as well as at home, esteem this remedy very highly and very few are willing to take any other after having once used it. A Home Trust Company.

Gettysburg is to have a trust company. A home trust company. The Citizens Bank is to become the Citizens' Trust Company. This will fill a great need. County seats on all sides of us have them. They have become financial necessities in the life of any community such as ours. The Citizens' Bank with its established business and a good surplus simply insures the success of the movement. The capital stock of the bank is $50,000 The stock of the trust company will be $125,000. Here will be an opportunity for a first-class investment in subscribing for the stock. Here is a statement of the business of the Bank made on Sept. 15:

The powers of a trust company are such as to make it most desirable to have them exercised by and entrusted to a home company They deal in insurance of titles to land receive and dispose of real and personal property, insure fidelity and act as depositories, execute trusts, as assignee receiver, guardian, executor and administrator act as agent, become surety on court bonds, receive and convey, purchase and sell real estate, act as security to contracts, become security for national, state, county or municipal officers, become security for faithful performance of any clerk or employee, become security for payments of damages on land taken in building railroads, become security on writs of error or appeal in any court Citizens are doing these things hundreds of times every year and asking the services of relatives and friends. A trust company does them all at a small profit. The names of the incorporators and with the Citizens' Bank in it relieves the situation of being an experiment. It will be an assured success from the start and we predict dividends will be paid on the stock within one year.

10 YEARS USE PROVES THE MERITS OF DOWNS' ELIXIR.

"I have used Downs' Elixir 10 years and always found it all you represented it to be for breaking up colds."

Down's Elixir never disapoints the user, and although we are unstinted in its praise, it does all we say and more.

The fact is that for the rapid and permanent cure of all lung or bronchial troubles, nothing ever equaled Downs' Elixir, while for croup, whooping-cough colds, coughs, it never fails. Sold everywhere and your money back if not satisfactory. Sold by L. M. Buehler.

Diamonds in Alaska.

While many prospectors have been confining their search chiefly for gold and copper deposits in Alaska, others have been searching for diamonds, and according to recent reports they have been successful in finding a few valuable specimens. There are many other persons who have been searching for years for something far more precious than gold or diamonds and that is—health. They have tried this medicine and that one in a vain hope of finding it, without success. They should try Hostetter's Stomach Bitters because it is the most successful health maker in the world, and is backed by a record of fifty years of cures. It will positively cure indigestion dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness, insomnia and malaria, fever and ague. Try it.

EVERYBODY INVITED TO THE NEW STORE GREATLY ENLARGED

G. W. WEAVER & SON
THE LEADERS
Dry Goods, Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Goods, Fancy Goods, Notions, Carpets and House Furnishing Dry Goods.

OWING to conditions of small delays, at the last, in detail work of furnishing, over which we seemingly had no control, we are not able to have a formal grand opening, as we had planned with music, flowers, &c., feeling a pride in the general appearance of the store as we had conceived it to look when finished. We, however, are now fully ready to have you come to inspect the new store. See just what we have provided, not only in the way of store room, but also see how good a store we have prepared for you. We believe that we have just cause to be proud, in which we think you will join us, to know that Gettysburg has a store that can vie with the stores of even much larger towns. While we are planning and building this new and larger store room, we were also planning and buying the new goods to fill it. Goods of a character and quality that has made this store grow from year to year to its present size---dependable goods, rightly priced.

We consider ourselves very fortunate, in this season of scarcity of many lines of goods, and the consequent higher prices, to be able to offer a larger assortment in all lines---in most instances, old prices.

MEDAL OF HONOR MEN HONOR MILES

there was quite a side dispute whether it was improperly presented and why it was not read, but the fact was it was not read and when the head under which it should have been considered had passed the Commander declared resolutions out of order without contents of same being made known.

Judge J. C. Julius Langbeim, who was elected Junior Vice Commander for the new year, upon request explained matter for our benefit. There was error last week as to how he won his medal. It came to him by reason of saving the life of Lieut. Bartholomew, April 16, 1862, at Camden, North Carolina. He was a drummer boy not quite fifteen years old at the time in the Hawkins Zouaves, 9th Regt., N. Y. Vols. He is now an attorney in New York City and has been a Judge of the courts of that city. The pension, as proposed to be asked for, is not for poor men or disabled men. As the Government has recognized the soldiers whose acts have challenged and still command the admiration of the world by awarding the Medal of Honor, it would be a fitting recognition of a generous and grateful nation to attach something of value to the honor as other nations have done. Those who wear the Iron Cross of Germany receive each year one hundred and fifty talers, with the Victorian Cross of England annually goes ten pounds, and with the Cross of the Legion of Honor of France goes one hundred franks in addition to regular pay for life. The same rule is followed in Italy, Prussia, Austria and Spain. In no other country but ours is it said does no material advantage go with the greatest honor the nation can bestow on soldier or sailor. This is the question that the Legion escaped at Gettysburg but which must soon be faced.

As an outgrowth of all these matters a condition almost prevailed to prevent the election of General Howard as Commander of the Legion. A soldier not an officer seemed to be the wish of many but the desire to honor a Gettysburg hero here finally won out. General L. G. Estes, of Philadelphia, nominated General Howard in a rare speech briefly reviewing his brilliant military career during the war, familiar to all, and also the fact that since the war his work has been the creation and development of six universities. General Mulholland seconded the nomination. It was noted that all the visitors were supplied with the latter's superb article on the "Percentage of Losses at Gettysburg—Greatest in History," which was recently put up in unique style by THE COMPILER for Wm. H. Tipton, Photographer.

RESULTS WITH COWS AND PIGS

Farmers Should Have All the Good Cows They Have Long Feed For.

A very interesting communication has been received from J. U. Neely, Fairfield, telling us of the numerous good articles appearing in the COMPILER on farm matters. He believes cows on a farm are a source of revenue which is much neglected by most of our farmers and says:

The selling of milk, instead of churning butter, is almost exclusively practiced now and is much the best way, and the results per cow are larger and does away with the labor to the women, thus enabling the farmers to keep a larger number of cows. The fault with most farmers is that they are at the trouble and expense of delivering their milk at the creamery and produces too small a quantity to make it profitable. Any farmer who has 100 acres of land can keep 10 cows and using my own experience he will find them very profitable. I aim to keep 10 cows sometimes I have as many as 12 and thus sell them down to 8. I am now milking 11, three of them are almost dry and will be fresh in a month. The rest will be fresh during the winter. I have kept these cows on a farm of 100 acres for the last five years and have never had to buy any feed except a couple tons of bran. For the last four years my cows have brought me in cash $1630.00 for milk and calves sold, besides I have each year raised about 50 pigs all of which I started on the skim milk. This year my cows have brought me for milk $371.50 and for calves sold 83.50

" " " May	51.84
" " " June	49.28
" " " July	43.52

This was produced without a cent of expense for grass the cows only being in fairly good pasture. My cows are half Jersey and Holstine. Our test for the last month was 4.68; it has not been lower than 4.44. I have raised by the help of the skim milk since March 67 pigs, 34 of them will now weigh gross 150 lbs averaged. This hog business would be impossible without the cows, so I say to all farmers keep all the good cows you can find long feed for and raise pigs on the skim milk.

longer to understand the meaning of what she read, so as to make the reading easy. Even now she likes to keep a book and read it over and over until she becomes familiar with it and has the sense of it.

When the work of the blind department of the Bible Society grew very large by reason of the necessity to employ instructors to teach the blind to read, it was turned over to the Free Library of Philadelphia. It has been Librarian Thompson and his assistant, Miss Reiser, who have been sending the books for years to Sarah Junkine. The books are sent free, the library paying the express one way.

The books are printed according to the system of Dr. Moon, of England, who was plunged into total darkness by the loss of his sight as he was entering into manhood and who devoted himself then to the development of a system of raised letters which has largely displaced all other systems in the past half century. It is the simplest system. The alphabet is reduced to nine characters placed in different positions.

The reading of Sarah Junkins has been largely parts of the Bible. She began with chapters 13 and 14 of St. John. In fact a chapter will make a book of some size in the raised letters and a whole book of the Bible makes quite a thick book. She has read various books of the New Testament, the Psalms, Pilgrim's Progress, several hymns, "Abide With Me," and "Son of My Soul." In the thirteen years of her reading she has covered perhaps twenty-five to thirty books. Since she began to read she has become a member of the German Baptist Church at Marsh Creek. She was attending services at the Church when the call of the assistant librarian of the Free Library was missed.

WHEN the goose of Levi U. Foulk, of near Redland, laid her large egg in the spring, as published in the COMPILER at the time, she was simply doing the act of her relative, the swan, doing her best before her departure for Goose Heaven, a place said to be located in Adams county. At her death in September the goose had reached a point so near old maidhood that she would not have liked to have her age spoken about, yet she was twenty-eight years and six months old. She was hatched out in the spring of 1875 and Mr. Foulk had heard it said that a goose will sometimes live to be a hundred years old and he was giving her a chance. Among the last eggs she presented to her owner was the prize egg of nine by twelve inches and weighing two pounds, more than a dozen hen eggs.

When I first got up in the mornings I had a dull, tired aching across the loins, and felt unrefreshed after my night's rest. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and felt that they would remove the trouble, so I procured a box at Haviland & Hunter's drug store and used them. Sleeplessness

Is akin to insanity. Many a woman realizes this as she lies awake hour by hour, peopling the darkness with phantoms, starting at the creaking of the bed or the rustle of the bedclothes. Such symptoms in general point to disease of the delicate womanly organs, and a constant drain of the vital and nervous forces. This condition cannot be overcome by sleeping powders. The diseased condition must be cured before the consequences of disease are removed.

Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which cause nervousness and sleeplessness. It is the best of tonics and invigorants, nourishing the nerves, encouraging the appetite and inducing refreshing sleep

Proprietors and makers of Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"My wife was sick for over eight years" writes Albert H Fulte, Esq., of Altamont, Grundy Co., Tenn. "She had uterine disease and was treated by two physicians and got no relief. At last I read about Dr. Pierce's medicines and we decided to try his 'Favorite Prescription.' I sent to the drug store and got one bottle and the first dose gave ease and sleep. She had not slept any for three nights. Being sure that it would cure her I sent for five more bottles and when she had taken the sixth bottle she was sound and well."
